WHAT IT MEANS TO BE SAVED

1. Admit that you are a sinner.
2. Admit that God says all sins must be paid for.
3. Accept the fact that Christ took upon Himself the suffering necessary to pay for all your sins.
4. You must change your mind about sin and sinning (God calls this repentance).
5. By an act of your will, accept by faith the Lord Jesus Christ, who can save you from the penalty of sin. Then, tell God about this in a simple prayer. Believe that God keeps His promise to save you, and thank Him for His salvation.

Please Remember To Be Faithful to Give!

As with everything else, the costs of keeping a church going never go down - they always go up. Bills wait for no one, and churches are no exception to this. An extra, sacrificial gift today by everyone present would go a long way...

We encourage all of our membership to practice obedience to God by being faithful every payday to give back to Him His tithe (10%). If every family in our church would practice this one simple discipline, we would never have weeks where we have to put off paying some bills until the following week!

Everything is expensive, especially for a small church like ours, but ours is a BIG God, and He LOVES to bless His children when they are obedient to Him!

If you are already a tither, we thank you, and encourage you to also give offerings as well. If you're currently not tithing, won't you please start today - OK? Thank you.

Christmas Then and Now

by Dr. R. G. Lee, Pastor
 Bellevue Baptist Church - Memphis, Tennessee
 1927-1960

“And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another; Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us” (Luke 2:15)

here is only one object that can satisfy the eye of the mind. That object is Jesus—Son of man without sin; Son of God with power.

Simeon, having waited long for “the consolation of Israel,” seeing the Christ who in eternity rested motherless upon the Father’s bosom and in time rested fatherless upon a woman’s bosom, clasping the Ancient of Days who had become the Infant of Days, said, “For mine eyes have seen thy salvation.”

Would that such satisfaction would possess our hearts through the eyes of our minds—as we turn our eyes away “from beholding vanity.”

Let Us Turn Our Mind’s Eye Upon Bethlehem -

Bethlehem! Jerusalem—the city of thousands of national memories—glorious and guilty, with evil, girt with diadem inside her walls. Not Athens—the intellectual center of the world. Not illustrious Rome—festering on the soil of war. But Bethlehem— called by some “a weed patch ignored by world travelers”—a small village in which nothing had occurred to aggrandize it.

Bethlehem, drawing a new star to lighten, its obscurity, drawing sages from the East, drawing the angel of the Lord, drawing of the heavenly hosts a multitude— remembered in all generations. “Thou Bethlehem Ephrata, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel”

Consider the Dutiful Diligence -

“Shepherds... Keeping watch over their flock” (Luke 2:8).

These shepherds—poor, honest, industrious—were not leaders of armies, not expounders of philosophies, not advocates of political theories, not bankers, counting piles of money—rather just throwers of stones to keep the wolves away. Watchers of their flocks, to these who were dutifully diligent in their com-mon tasks, the good news was first announced—teaching us to be “diligent in...business”—urging us to remember that our modest work and the hero’s sacrifice are one in the unseen realm of duty, showing a woman’s two mites and a rich man’s great gifts are the same in the realm of love, showing that God seeks people in humble places for service and the honors of service.

“Be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (II Peter 3:14).

As we look upon Bethlehem, let us see to it that this diligence possesses us.

Give Ear to the Divine Declaration -

To Joseph “the angel of the Lord appeared.. .saying: ‘. fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife.. . she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus: for he shall save his people from their sins” (Matt. 1:20, 21).

To the shepherds, the angel of the Lord said, “Fear not... For unto you is born...a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord” (Luke 2:10, 11).

To these same shepherds a multitude from the heavenly choir sang, “Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men” (Luke 2:14).

Had they made a declaration that poverty, war, plague and disease would be forever banished from the earth, such an announcement would have been as discord to melody, as the chatterings of nonsense to the speakings of wisdom, when put in the light of this divine declaration.

But We Should See the Deep Descent -

What deep descent—from the heights of glory to the depths of shame; from the wonders of Heaven to the wickedness of earth; from exaltation to humiliation; from the throne to the tree; from dignity to debasement; from worship to wrath; from the halls of Heaven to the nails of earth; from the coronation to the curse; from the glory place to the gory place at the cross!

In Bethlehem, humility and glory in their extremes were joined. Born in a stable. Cradled in a cattle trough. Wrapped in swaddling clothes of poverty. No room for Him who made all rooms! No place for Him who made and knows all places! Oh, deep humiliation of the Creator—born of the creature, woman! But His descent was the dawn of mercy. Because we cannot ascend to Him, He descends to us.

Forget Not the Delayless Doing -

“Let us now go” (Luke 2:15).

The information God gave, the shepherds wisely put into action immediately. Not the delay of a week—nor a day, nor an hour, nor a minute. ‘The Saviour of men born in the City of David? Let us go and see Him now! Not “when a more convenient time presents itself.” Not “after we go home and talk it over with our families.” But “now.” Not “when we make sure no wolves will attack our sheep.” But “now.” Not “when we make sure no money will be lost.” But “now.”

The wise men made the same improvement of their information. In a distant country they saw His star and followed its direction—defiant of all distances, discouraged by no vast expanse, downcast by no far reach of miles.

“Let us now go.” What—at midnight? Coot and calculating reason would have argued that it was an unreasonable hour. Had covetousness spoken, it would have asked questions as to the welfare of the sheep. Had procrastination prevailed, it would have put off until “a ‘better time.’” But these plain men, who had left their beds to attend their flocks, now left their flocks to inquire about the Saviour. “They came with haste.”

To inquire after Jesus, to see Jesus, to serve Jesus, to follow Jesus is our first business—let us do it quickly.

Deity Displayed -

God’s first promise to guilty man was that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent’s head (Gen. 3:15). As to the flesh, Jesus is the seed of the woman. But He is infinitely more. Paul says:

“But when the fullness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons” (Galatians 4:4-5).

Necessary it was to our redemption that the Saviour of men should be a man. But had Christ been produced in the ordinary way of human generation, He must have been a partaker of a sinful nature. This was prevented by the miraculous way of His conception—by the power of the Holy Spirit. Thus the virgin-born Christ Was “holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners”—fit to become sin for us because He knew no sin.

Jesus is God manifest in the flesh. Let us go to Bethlehem and see this great sight. Glorious mystery. We cannot fully comprehend it. Men may speak and write of it, but as they attempt to describe it, a woeful sense of inadequacy oppresses the mind. We may speak of it, but the most we can say is that it is unspeakable.

Think too of the

Deplorable Darkness -

When Jesus came it was night in Egypt, night in Rome, night in Athens, night in Syria, night in Palestine—night everywhere. Darkness blacker than “a murderer’s mark of crepe.” Darkness, as Keats would say, like “the parentage of chaos.” The world was dark “as if it were dipped in the death shadow.”

Poe spoke of the darkness “as the caves wherein earth’s thunders groan”—and it was groaning “ever darker and darker like the shadow of advancing Death.” Thomas spoke of a condition “Dark as the inside of a whale,” and Whittier, of a matter “dark as the brooding thundercloud?”

The world was, as Milton described Samson, “dark, dark, dark, amid the blaze of noon.”

Yes, deplorable darkness had long covered the earth—and the wisest of men bowed “to they unknown God.”

But, glory to His name, “the only begotten Don, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him” (John 1:18). This is He who is “the brightness of his [the Father’s] glory, and the express image of his person” (Heb. 1:3); “the image of the invisible God” (Col. 1:15). This too is unspeakable, but we believe and adore. Let but the light shine into our heart to give us “the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ,” and it is enough

But consider as to Christ the Design of Death -

What was the grand design of the Saviour’s birth? The redemption by His death of fallen, guilty, helpless man. That was the grand design. “God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, To redeem them that were under the law” (Gal. 4:4,5). He was named Jesus—because He came to “save his people from their sins.”

There is something so sublime, so delightful in the name Saviour. Cicero, the Roman orator, said that when traveling in Greece he saw a pillar inscribed with the word Saviour. He ad-mired the fullness in the name, but he was as ignorant of its Christian meaning as an owl is of astronomy. How much more may every redeemed sinner admire that name—Saviour!

But, seeing the things come to pass at Bethlehem, let us hate the

Despicable Disgrace -

What mean I by that? As, at Bethlehem, we see God in all His glorious perfections manifested in the Person of Jesus, we should engage our souls to adore and love and praise Him—magnifying “the Lord God of Israel” “The Lord.. hath visited and redeemed his people.”

But we see the disgraceful way in which some celebrate the season called Christmas. Vain, frothy, carnal—these three words—can be written over the celebrative ways of those who “make merry” at the Christmas season. Foolishly, even iniquitously, do they contradict as much as possible the design of His coming as the “Infant of Days” to Bethlehem.

Jesus came to “destroy the works of the devil.” So many at Christmas seek to keep up the works of the Devil. What have vulgar dances to do with the birth of Jesus? What does participation in the degradation.. of human lust? What does greed? or gluttony? or drunkenness? What do the works of the flesh have to do with the birth of Jesus?

Jesus came to save His people from their sins—not to urge them to participate in them. Why should more sins be committed at the Christmas season in a few days than in many weeks at other times? Why should sin be aggravated by letting it pass under the guise of religious joy? Why should many choose to “steal the livery of Christmas to serve the Devil in”?

Such disgraceful observance of the birth of Christ is an affront to a holy God, a reproach to the Christian name, a ruinous matter to the souls of men. Riotous revelry of reverence and worship and gratitude is of Hell—not Heaven; of man—not God. ÷

GIFTS OF THE MODERN WISE MEN

“Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools” -Romans 1:22

Hillsong’s Pastor Tells Child Molestation Victim, “It’s Your Fault. You Tempted [Him].”

[Canberra, Australia] The Royal Commission Into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse in Australia is looking into Brian Houston’s cover-up of the sexual abuses of his father against church children. This has been widely reported by many news sites. What’s not been widely reported yet is a startling accusation toward a sexual abuse victim by Hillsong founder, Brian Houston. The Royal Commission already censured Brian Houston for the sex-abuse cover-up back in 2015, but the latest revelations are truly tragic.

Brian Houston told a child sex abuse victim, “It’s your fault all this happened, you tempted my father.”

The commission received an account of Houston’s words under oath, and reportedly occurred as Houston was talking to his father’s victim, after his father had agreed to pay him 10 thousand dollars.

According to The Australian:

After the allegations became public within the church during 1999, Frank Houston met his victim offering him $10,000 and saying: “I want your forgiveness for this. I don’t want to die and have to face God with this on my head,” the commission heard.

Months later, when the money had not arrived, his victim called Frank Houston’s son Brian, who was then the national president of the Assemblies of God in Australia Pentecostal movement.

The victim said Brian told him: “You know, it’s your fault all this happened. You tempted my father.”

“Brian got very angry after that. He slammed the phone down after saying words to the effect of ‘You’ll be getting your money,’” the victim told the commission. He received a cheque for $10,000 about two weeks later.

Brian Houston has made a statement acknowledging the phone call with his father’s victim, but denies he said those words precisely. ÷

- Pastor’s Note: Hillsong Church is a Pentecostal church headquartered in Australia, and has sister churches in many parts of the world. Their worship music is very popular among churches with modern “praise and worship”/contemporary music services, including an alarming number of Baptist churches. They are actually a pseudo-Christian cult, and Bible-believing Christians ought to have nothing to do with them, their music, or their churches.
